FOR THE ASSOCIATE COMMISSIONER,
EXAMINATIONS

Robert P. Wiemann, Director
Administrative Appeals Office

DISCUSSION: The application was denied by the Officer in Charge, Panama City, Panama, and is now before the Associate Commissioner for Examinations on appeal. The appeal will be dismissed.

The applicant is a native and citizen of Venezuela who was found to be inadmissible to the United States under section 212(a)(1)(A)(i) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (the Act), 8 U.S.C. 1182(a)(1)(A)(i), for having a communicable disease of public health significance. The applicant is the unmarried son of lawful permanent resident parents and seeks a waiver of this permanent bar to admission as provided under section 212(g) of the Act, 8 U.S.C. 1182(g), in order to travel to the United States to reside with his family.

The officer in charge concluded that the applicant had failed to establish that he qualifies for a discretionary waiver and denied the application accordingly.

The record reflects that the applicant was found on February 10, 2000 to have tested positive for Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV) Infection.

On appeal, counsel requests an additional 30 days after filing the appeal for the applicant to submit evidence that he will not be a public charge given that the cost of his treatment in the United States will be paid by private sources. Since more than seven months have passed and no new information or documentation has been received, a decision will be rendered based on the present record.

Section 212(a) of the Act states:

CLASSES OF ALIENS INELIGIBLE FOR VISAS OR ADMISSION.-
Except as otherwise provided in this Act, aliens who are ineligible under the following paragraphs are ineligible to receive visas and ineligible to be admitted to the United States:

(1) HEALTH RELATED GROUNDS.-

(A) IN GENERAL.- Any alien-

(i) who is determined (in accordance with regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Health and Human Services) to have a communicable disease of public health significance, which shall include infection with the etiologic agent for acquired immune deficiency syndrome,

(B) WAIVER AUTHORIZED.-For provisions authorizing waiver of certain clauses of subparagraph (A), see subsection(g).

Section 212(g)(1) provides that the Attorney General may waive the application of subsection (a)(1)(A)(i) in the case of any alien who-

(A) is the spouse or the unmarried son or daughter, or the minor lawfully adopted child of a United States citizen, or of an alien lawfully admitted for permanent residence, or of an alien who has been issued an immigrant visa, or

(B) has a son or daughter who is a United States citizen or an alien lawfully admitted for permanent residence, or an alien who has been issued an immigrant visa; in accordance with such terms, conditions, and controls, if any, including the giving of bond, as the Attorney General, in the discretion of the Attorney General after consultation with the Secretary of Health and Human Services, may by regulations prescribe;

The approval of an application for a waiver of inadmissibility under section 212(g) of the Act equates in this case to a waiver of the permanent bar to admission imposed upon the applicant by section 212(a)(1)(A)(i) of the Act. Congress provided for such a waiver but limited its application by requiring, in each case, a showing of the requisite familial relationship.

It should be noted that Congress did not intend that a waiver under section 212(g) be granted merely due to the existence of a qualifying relationship since it stipulated other terms, conditions, and controls that also have to be met, besides making the waiver discretionary. This Service bears the responsibility of determining, on a case-by-case basis, whether a person found to be inadmissible pursuant to section 212(a)(1)(A)(i) should be granted a waiver.

Current Service policy dictates that the discretion of the Attorney General shall not be used in HIV positive cases unless the applicant can establish that: (1) the danger to the public health of the United States created by his/her admission to the United States as an immigrant is minimal; (2) the possibility of the spread of infection created by his/her admission to the United States as an immigrant is minimal; and (3) should he/she be admitted as an immigrant, there will be no cost incurred by any level of government agency of the United States without prior consent of that agency.

There is no evidence contained in the record that the applicant has complied with item (3), above. Although counsel claims that there will be no governmental costs associated with the applicant's care, counsel's assertions do not constitute evidence. Matter of Obaigbena, 19 I&N Dec. 533, 534 (BIA 1988); Matter of Ramirez-Sanchez, 17 I&N Dec. 503, 506 (BIA 1980).

In proceedings for application for waiver of grounds of inadmissibility under section 212(g) of the Act, the burden of proving eligibility remains entirely with the applicant. Here, the applicant has not met that burden. Accordingly, the appeal will be dismissed.

The dismissal of the appeal does not preclude the applicant from filing a new waiver request with the required fee and in accordance with instructions, supported by documentation to establish that he warrants a waiver as a matter of discretion in accordance with Service policy.

ORDER: The appeal is dismissed.
